

Immigration is a good thing... There are many reasons to encourage immigrants into this country. I think we all know and have heard these many reasons. But there are also many reasons why we should control the number of immigrants based on their country of origin, their talents and abilities and their financial standing.

We currently have at least three countries that wish us harm. Russia, China and Iran. Are their citizens happy with their laws and opportunities, probably not, but for everyone who is seeking asylum into this country there are probably three who salute the flag and follow their fearless leader to their grave.

The leaders of these three countries are not stupid. They have citizens of their country who are impoverished, uneducated, imprisoned or who are mentally or physically impaired. What a clever way to eliminate their problem, by putting these people on a bus or a boat and sending them to this country.

So, we let them in, no vetting as to their status or personal situation. They become our problem, financially and criminally. Our laws are being broken every day, our financial status for Medicaid, Medicare and Social Security are at a breaking point. Our national debt is to the moon with no sign of any control.

Immigration into this country must be controlled, completing the wall seems to be one method, and maybe not the only method, but at least it is a try at something...

We have homeless Veterans sleeping in the streets and illegal immigrants sleeping in the finest hotels at no cost to them. What is wrong with that picture.

Something needs to be done... ASAP
